

Part IV of the Parsons Archive “Peter Demens and the Two St. Petersburgs” includes materials in English and Russian about the relations between the two St. Petersburgs. Museum exhibits, written and internet sources, and with photographs, maps, and realia help tell the story of the two cities. These materials can be found in the Special Collections of the Poyntor Library at the University of South Florida, St Petersburg.

IV. RELATIONS BETWEEN THE TWO ST. PETERSBURGS

1. Files on history of relations of the two St. Petersburgs.
 - Bibliographies and articles. (This section includes internet materials in English and Russian, often containing factual errors).
 - Sister Cities +
 - Course Materials on History of Two St. Petersburgs. Eckerd College.

2. Museum Exhibits in St. Petersburg, Florida and in Russia.
 - Museum Exhibit. “St. Petersburg: A Tale of Two Cities.” January-June 1988. St. Petersburg Museum of History.
 - Photo Album. Small format.
 - File of text and description of exhibits.

 - The 300/100 Celebration.
 - The Committee and the Many Projects.
 - The Namesake Exhibit and the History Museum.
 - Photo Album. Small format.
 - File of text and descriptions of exhibits.
 - The Symposiums at Eckerd College and in St. Petersburg, Russia.

3. Sobchak Collection of Photographs. See section I-3.

4. Poets of the Two Cities
 - Files on the Exchange of Poets and Poetry of the Two St. Petersburgs.
 - Books.
 - Russian-American Anthology. Cultural Exchange Program. (In English) 1994. Sankt-Peterburg – Kolpino, Russia. Sankt-Peterburg, Florida. (In Russian). 1994.
 - Istselenie Pamyati. Verses By the Poets of St. Petersburg, Florida Translated by the Poets of St. Petersburg, Russia. (in Russian). 1997.
 - Sankt-Peterburg – Florida. A collection of poetry and prose by writers in St. Petersburg, Florida and St. Petersburg, Russia. In Russian. 1998.
 - Peter Meinke. Maples and Orange Trees. A dual language collection of poetry by Peter Meinke. 2005.

5. Symbols of the Two Cities.
 - Paired sets of images.
 - Large format portraits of Peter the Great and Peter Demens (framed).
 - The two cities from space (framed).
 - Poster for Treasures of the Czars.
 - Poster for the 300/100 Event in 2003.

T-shirts for the relationships between the two cities. (three different designs).
Two hats with images of the two cities.
School uniforms for the Parsons' children in Leningrad in 1981.
Other objects related to schools in Leningrad in 1981.
Pins for the two St. Petersburgs.
A framed copy of an article from the St. Petersburg Times.
A Tale of Two St. Petersburgs. 1/16/1995.